Residents Can Take Tests of Driving Skill

Residents of Torrance will be able to test their driving ability next week in a special safety trailer at Longren Aircraft Co., on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, according to Hampden Wentworth, president.

The trailer, containing many devices for testing various skills and attitudes of drivers, is part of a safety program now underway at the firm, which has two local plants. The theme will be "Develop Your Attitude and Awareness on the Job and on the Highway."

Although Longren employees will be tested on the equipment owned by the Interstate Indemnity Co., the public also will be invited to the tests at the following hours:

Monday, 8:30 to 3 p.m., and Tuesday, 9:30 to 12 and 4 to 6 p.m., in the Elm St. parking lot beside the plant, 2756 W. Carson St. Wednesday, 9:30 to 8 p.m., at the 24751 Crenshaw Blvd., facility. Other hours are reserved for Longren associates.

CHECK YOUR SKILL... A mobile driver testing laboratory, embracing all of the latest testing equipment, will be parked adjacent to Longren Aircraft Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, it was announced yesterday by company officials. The public is being invited to visit the exhibit and check their driving skills against measured norms.
